State Department Reports on Turkey Served to Firemen

Investigation Discloses Turkey Not Properly Preserved, State Board Declares

Albany, Aug. 2—An outbreak of food poisoning traced to contaminated roast turkey, that caused the illness of nearly 500 Ulster county firemen and other guests at a Kingston banquet July 26 has drawn a sharp warning from the State Department of Health that foods of this type must be kept under proper refrigeration until the time of consumption.

From the evidence gathered by the department in the Kingston case, if the meat had been properly preserved this latest outbreak of gastroenteritis probably would not have occurred. Investigation disclosed that the turkey had been cooked one and two days prior to the time of the banquet of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, attended by 700 in the Kingston Armory. After it had been cooked the meat was placed under refrigeration until about 12 hours before it was served, when it was sliced, wrapped in wax paper and delivered to the armory, where it remained at room temperature until the time of the banquet. It was not reheated before serving.

Illness in the form of "severe vomiting, abdominal cramps and violent diarrhea" attacked 70 percent of the banquet guests from one-half hour to eight hours after they had eaten the food. Further evidence that the turkey caused the sickness came when the investigation revealed that many persons who had not eaten the meat, because, they said, "it smelled spoiled" were not ill.

The State Health Department warns that many cooked foods, particularly poultry, ham, salads and cream-filled pastries must not only be well cooked but must remain under refrigeration at 55 degrees Fahrenheit or lower until the time of eating. The department further states, that in the past four weeks 31 outbreaks of illness have been reported from various parts of the state, most of which have been due to food poisoning. In many of these cases there had not been adequate refrigeration of the food responsible for the sickness.

Credit for Religious Instruction Upheld

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The State Department of Education has affirmed the right of public high schools to give graduation credit for outside religious instruction, and has dismissed a churchman's petition against the practice.

The Rev. Gregory Reynolds of the North American Old Roman Catholic Church protested that the Rochester Board of Education was violating the state constitution by allowing credit for "religious classes." E. J. Millazzo, his attorney, announced yesterday that the Education Department maintained the contrary.

Acting Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson wrote that a constitutional provision barring religious instruction in public schools was not violated because "neither the school nor any of its facilities are used to carry on religious instruction."

Vincent Keator Identified By Police at Hospital

A man who was conveyed to the emergency room of the Kingston Hospital at 2:10 this morning and named as Vincent Keator, was later identified by police as Vincent Keator, of 137 St. James street.

He was told hospital authorities he had been injured in the Wall Street section but would give no information concerning his identity.

An investigation by Officers Fitzgerald and McDonough revealed that Keator had been involved in a domestic argument. He was discharged from the hospital after medical treatment for minor injuries.

Governor Bases Verdict on Greenbaum Report; Finds No Bias or Prejudice

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey declined today to reopen the case of a Freeport, L. I., policeman who shot and killed two Negro brothers and who was found justified in doing so by a Nassau County Grand Jury.

Lawrence S. Greenbaum, who conducted a public inquiry into the legal proceeding in the case, reported to the governor that he did not think a jury would convict the provisional patrolman, Joseph A. Romeika, were he indicted for shooting the Ferguson brothers.

Greenbaum said he had found "no evidence of bias or prejudice on the part of Nassau County District Attorney James N. Gehrig. The governor therefore dismissed a petition that he appoint a special prosecutor, his counsel, Charles D. Breitell, said. Greenbaum recommended dismissal.

The governor's investigator reported attempts by "several organizations" to "create pressure on the district attorney and the grand jury for an indictment" of Romeika.

Greenbaum said he believed re-submission of the case to "any other grand jury" would fail to bring an indictment and added: "It is difficult for me to see how there could be any reasonable chance" of convicting Romeika by a trial jury.

Report Is Made Public

The governor's office made Greenbaum's report public today.

Charles and Alfonso Ferguson, of Roosevelt, 27 and 25, respectively, were killed last February 5. Their brother, Joseph, 21, was wounded. Romeika said he had arrested them and another brother, Richard, 22, after what he called a disturbance in a Freeport restaurant.

Romeika, said he believed Charles and Alfonso were armed. He said they made threatening statements and drew a weapon.

Greenbaum, former chairman of the State Social Welfare Commission, was appointed by the governor July 5 to conduct a public inquiry.

Dewey had received a petition from three Freeport residents, Adele G. Smith, Ruth Hughes and Richard Sanders, who requested that he name a special prosecutor.

They charged Gehrig with failing to conduct a fair hearing.

Jersey Train Crash Kills Trainman

Accident at Bayonne Station; 79 Persons Reported Hurt

Bayonne, N. J., Aug. 3 (AP)—Two Central Railroad of New Jersey trains, carrying capacity commuter crowds augmented by week-enders bound for the Jersey shore, collided last night before a horrified throng at the West 8th street station here, killing one person and injuring at least 79 passengers.

The accident, in which the Freehold express telescoped into the rear of the Barnegat Express, occurred at the height of the commuter rush.

The dead man was Robert Henderson of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., fireman of the Freehold train, who was buried under tons of coal when his locomotive and tender overturned.

Thirty-nine of the injured were in Bayonne Hospital, two of them in critical condition. Most of the injured were passengers in the rear car of the Barnegat train, which was crumpled and hurled on its side against a bridge girder. Part of the bridge above the city street, with clouds of live steam cascading over it from a broken locomotive valve.

G. O. P. May Establish 1946 Western Campaign Quarters

Salt Lake City, Aug. 3 (AP)—Republican leaders turned their attention today to the possibility of establishing a western headquarters for the 1946 election campaign after opening the regional conference yesterday with sessions devoted principally to speeches of stinging criticism of the Democratic administration.

National Republican Chairman B. Carroll Reece and Ralph E. Becker of Port Chester, N. Y., chairman of the Young Republican National Federation, led in the attacks on the Democrats.

Reece, in a banquet address last night, charged that "alien-minded radicals and political corruption" had made up the Democratic high command, and said the choice of a Congress dominated by Republicans

Destroyer Goes to Aid Of Stricken Freighter

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The U. S. destroyer Perry raced toward the crippled and crewless merchant ship, American Farmer, today. Two tugs had been dispatched earlier.

The 2,400-ton 12th fleet destroyer left Plymouth early today, U. S. naval authorities announced, and was expected to reach the American Farmer some 700 miles west of the English coast at about 5 a. m. tomorrow (11 p. m. Saturday, E.S.T.).

The American Farmer was in collision with the William J. Riddle, another American vessel Wednesday night. All persons aboard the Farmer were rescued and the vessel left wallowing in the sea.

Bombing of Yen'an May Kill Parley, Communists Say

Number of Persons Are Reported Killed in Raid; Chou Has No Comment

Nanking, Aug. 3 (AP)—Bombing of the Communist capital at Yen'an by seven Chinese government planes dealt a severe blow to peace negotiations, already tottering on the brink of failure, a Communist spokesman here said today.

Gen. Chou En-Lai, the top Communist negotiator, received official notice of yesterday's 20-minute attack as he was conferring today with Presidential Envoy George C. Marshall. He had no immediate comment.

The message to General Chou from Yen'an failed to mention casualties, but Communist sources said a number of persons were killed and wounded.

Communist spokesman Wang Ping-Nan said Yen'an's populace attempted no defense because of the suddenness of the attack.

Gen. Chou Jih-Jou, government airforce commander, asserted the plane was a successful attempt to destroy a government B-24 bomber which landed at Yen'an on June 26 because of a fuel shortage. A request to the Communist to send the plane back was refused, he said, so a special mission was dispatched to destroy it.

(The Communists said the bomber had surrendered at Yen'an because its pilot and crew members were weary of the civil war and refused to fight any more.)

The aircraft is two miles from Yen'an itself.

Six Leased-L47 Fighters and one B-24 made the raid from their base at Sian, 100 miles south of Yen'an. They spent 20 minutes strafing and bombing the capital, last raided by the Japanese in 1941, Communist headquarters here said.

Eleven bombs were dropped. One fell 600 yards from headquarters of the Communist Army Commander-in-Chief, Gen. Chu Teh.

Meantime, at Tientsin, United States Marines who lost four of their number in a gun battle with Communists on the Peiping-Tientsin road July 29, erected barricades in front of important buildings and increased guard strength against possible further clashes.

Marines were assigned four medium tanks for use if needed to keep the Peiping-Tientsin road open.

One officer and two enlisted men killed in the clash were buried in the American cemetery at Tientsin yesterday. The fourth victim, an enlisted man, died in a Peiping hospital yesterday.

Will Arm Marines

Peiping, Aug. 3 (AP)—United States Marines traveling the Peiping-Tientsin highway, where a truck convoy was ambushed July 29 by Communists, will be adequately armed against further attacks, headquarters said today.

Two hundred men making up the patrols which leaves for Tientsin Sunday morning will have four medium tanks and about 30 other vehicles, including two radio trucks. The Marines themselves will be armed with machineguns and other automatic weapons. But no artillery will be taken along.

Man in Statement Says He Doesn't Recall Attacking Woman

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old Negro butler-chauffeur, was held today without bail for grand jury action after waiving examination at his arraignment on a first degree murder charge in the July 24 slaying of Mrs. Marjory Church Logan.

Caraway, earlier yesterday had dictated a statement confessing the shooting of the 52-year-old society matron and the wounding of her daughter, Marjory Jeanne, 26, District Attorney James M. Gehrig said.

Gehrig added that Caraway said in his statement that he did not recall raping Miss Logan.

Caraway, who gave his address as (1906 Oakland avenue) Charlotte, N. C., was identified by Miss Logan at Nassau Hospital, where she is recovering from wounds in the face and neck, as the man who had slain her mother and wounded her, Assistant District Attorney Philip Huntington, who was present, said.

Parts of Revolver Found

Caraway also had taken police to fashionable Flower Hill, where the Logan home is, and assisted two detectives in finding two of the three sections of a revolver, which police quoted Caraway as saying he used in commission of the crimes.

Caraway's arrest Thursday night followed a police check of servants in the homes of neighbors of the Logans, which led them to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Rose at Southold, Long Island, where the Roses, Flower Hill residents, have a summer home.

Congress Adjourns Until After November And Gives Truman Authority to Deposit World Court Matters With U.N. Council

War Profits Probe Will Be Resumed

Fraud and Dishonesty Will Be Ferreted After Month's Rest From Duties

Hearts Take Hand Both May and Garsson Claim Heart Trouble Cause of Absences

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating Committee began a breather today along with the rest of congress but posted notice that its ferreting for wartime frauds will go on.

Its formal warning that it is bent upon exposure of fraud in wartime spending in general and "dishonesty on the part of the public officials" in particular climaxed a month of investigation into the complicated operations of a munitions combine.

While congress expects to take the rest of the year off, the probing committee decided upon a month-long recess of public hearings "except for an emergency."

From sources close to the committee, it was learned that this phrase was inserted to cover the possibility that Rep. May (D-Ky.) could volunteer to appear before the committee to tell, under oath, of his intervention on behalf of the combine.

May, whose counsel pleaded illness on his behalf, has been absent from Capitol Hill since his collapse on the eve of a scheduled appearance before the committee. He has denied profiting personally through that intervention.

The committee announcement on plans for working during the congressional recess came on the heels of the disclosure by Elisha Walker, New York investment banker, that he held a five-year-old unpaid $5,000 promissory note, signed by May.

Walker informed the committee that he made the loan at the request of Murray Garsson, one of the combine's promoters, and later had been informed by May that he signed the note as an "accommodation" for Garsson.

Garsson, too, has been conspicuous by his absence from the committee's inquiry. He has

Chairmanship Is To Be Rotated

Paris Conference Leaders Take Vote; Big Three Included

Paris, Aug. 3 (AP)—Leaders of the Paris peace conference voted 12 to 8 today to rotate the conference chairmanship, as urged by the large nations, and then turned to the question of whether a two-thirds vote or a simple majority would decide all issues.

The vote on the chairmanship was the first outright test in the dispute between large and small nations, and was a victory for the United States and Soviet Russia.

The chairmanship will rotate among the United States, China, France, Great Britain and Russia in that French alphabetical order.

The nations voting for the rotating chairmanship proposed by the Foreign Ministers Council were:

The U. S., Canada, China, France, Great Britain, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine, Soviet Russia, Yugoslavia and White Russia.

The nations voting for a single permanent chairman were:

Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Greece, India, New Zealand, Holland and South Africa, Ethiopia, abstained from voting in the action by the powerful committee on rules and procedure.

China was not an inviting power, due to the insistence of Russia, but as a member of the Foreign Ministers Council will take its turn in the chairmanship rotation. Each chairman will serve three days.

The question of a two-thirds majority, favored by Russia and the United States, promised to be another fight between large and small nations. The rules committee adjourned until Monday without reaching a decision.

Caraway Waives Mineola Hearing

O.P.A. Hikes Prices on Bread, Flour, Cereals, Other Items

Chairmanship Is To Be Rotated Paris Conference Leaders Take Vote; Big Three Included

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Price ceilings are up today on bread and bakery products, flour, cereals, macaroni, noodles, corn meal and hominy grits—and increases on more market basket items are on the way.

Tagged for announcement soon are price hikes of perhaps eight to 10 cents a pound on coffee and one to two cents on canned corn, peas and tomatoes.

Meanwhile, O.P.A. ordered these retail increases into effect:

Bread—One cent on loaves weighing up to two pounds; on bigger loaves two to three cents.

Bakery Products—One cent a dozen on bread rolls, 15 per cent on cookies, crackers and biscuits.

Flour—About one cent a pound.

Breakfast Cereals—One to three cents a package on all kinds except corn flakes, puffed rice and puffed wheat.

Macaroni and Noodles—Two cents on eight-ounce boxes, one cent on smaller packages.

Corn Meal and Hominy Grits—One to two cents a pound.

O.P.A. tumbled out announcements of these increases in rapid succession late yesterday.

It followed them up with a ruling that no ceilings apply until at least August 20 on corned beef hash, meat stews, tamales and chili con carne. This reversed an earlier decision.

The reason for the turn-around, O.P.A. said, is that these items contain more than 20 per cent meat, and thus must remain control-free for the present.

Subsidy Withdrawal Cited

As for the increases on flour, bread and bakery products, O.P.A. said they stem principally from a withdrawal of subsidies.

British Move Troops to Iraq Border; Iran Trouble Seen

New Delhi, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new Iranian problem—complete with international complications paralleling those which caused a crisis in the United Nations Security Council early this year—apparently was threatened today by a reported movement of British Indian troops to the Iraq frontier facing Iran.

An Indian government communiqué, released early today, said troops were being moved from India to Basra, southern Iraq, for protection, should circumstances demand it, of Indian British and Arab lives and in order to safeguard Indian and British interests in south Persia.

In London, the Indian office confirmed the New Delhi announcement, but said that "no question of troops going into Persia arises," adding that there was "no apparent contradiction" between this statement and the Indian announcement.

A Reuters dispatch from New Delhi said an addendum issued early today to last night's communiqué regarding the movement of troops to Basra said:

"There is no question of the troops going into Persia except in the case of a grave emergency which it is hoped will not occur."

The communiqué explained that "many hundreds of Indians are employed in the oil fields and refineries of south Persia and India depends largely on this source for protection, should circumstances demand it, of Indian British and Arab lives and in order to safeguard Indian and British interests in south Persia."

In London, the Indian office confirmed the New Delhi announcement, but said that "no question of troops going into Persia arises," adding that there was "no apparent contradiction" between this statement and the Indian announcement.

Departure From Capital Will Be 'Curtains' for Some Lawmakers of 79th Congress

Social Tax Stands

Social Security Levy Stays at One Per Cent Until '48

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Lawmakers shifted from the legislative to the political battlefields today as the 79th Congress went home expecting not to be back until after the November election, if ever.

The vast majority of its members, however, hoped individually to be on hand when the 80th Congress is called to order in January. For most of them the opportunity to get back home and hoe political gardens was what they had been waiting for months.

Every House seat technically is at stake in November, although some of the contests already have been decided in Democratic primaries in the south. Thirty-six Senate seats are to be filled, and there, too, some southern Democrats have cleared their voting hurdle.

The Senate bowed out with a thumping 60 to 20 vote approving a resolution authorizing the President to deposit with the United Nations this country's agreement to abide by decisions of the world court in matters pertaining to treaty interpretations, international law, breaches of international obligations, and reparations.

The court's jurisdiction would not be accepted, however, in matters which the United States considers strictly its own domestic business. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee listed immigration and operation of the Panama Canal in this category.

Neither could the court act in matters which had been or are submitted to other tribunals by agreement.

This last major piece of business for the Senate found Senators Shipstead (R-Minn.) and Langer (R-Ind.) as the only two diehard opponents.

The scattering lawmakers of the Senate and House left other major legislation on the White House doorstep, including a $2,636,289,000 appropriation bill carrying funds for enlisted men's furlough pay.

Social Security Remains

Also approved in the last minute rush was a measure boosting old age benefit and other payments and freezing the social security payroll tax until January, 1948 at the present level of 1 per cent on employers and employees.

These two measures joined others on which the President is expected to busy himself in the next few days. In that time he also may pick members of a five-man domestic atomic control board whose names he didn't get around to sending the Senate before Congress adjourned. Members will then must obtain confirmation.

When the new Congress comes in in January, its first job will be to reorganize its committees, cutting the number and membership, and realign many of its functions to meet the specifications of a streamlining bill signed by the President yesterday.

It also may take up some of the problems the adjourned 79th left hanging in midair unless the 79th itself is revived by presidential call before then. Included are such matters as a merger of the armed forces and possible broadening of labor legislation.

The incoming legislators also will have before them such problems as price control, extension on expiration of the draft, extension of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, bills to provide military assistance for other nations and such perennials as the St. Lawrence seaway.

Secret Service Asks General Alertness

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Secret Service forecast today that mail thieves would try to make capital out of the 15,000,000 checks and 12,000,000 bonds to be sent to veterans for G.I. terminal leave pay. It called for general alertness to thwart them.

James J. Maloney, acting chief of the service, reported that thefts and forgeries of government bonds and checks mounted during the fiscal year ended June 30.

Survivors Are Rescued

Haifa, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rescue squads working through the night picked up 32 survivors in Haifa harbor, where the British tanker "Empire Cross" burned after an explosion last night. Casualties were believed to total 10 or 12, largely British merchant navy officers.

Short Summer
Enterprise, Ore., Aug. 3 (AP)—Fishing in Prospect Lake in the mountains here is a little slow this season. Anglers returning from the lake say two feet of ice still covers it—and snow is due at the end of the month.

A Bare Tale
Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 3 (AP)—A bear weighing more than 200 pounds was in a trap which Iva Young had set as a government trapper.

Because he wasn't a stock-killing bear, the law requires Mrs. Young to free him, but it wasn't as easy as it sounds.

She edged her truck near the trapped animal. The bear scrambled under the vehicle, snubbing himself to the rear axle with the trap chain.

Gingerly, Mrs. Young tied him with a rope, then cautiously sprang the trap, and—from a distance—loosened the rope.

The bear went up the nearest tree, hastily.

Two Bites

Hawkins disgustedly reeled in a pair of old trousers and gave them a scornful kick. In return, he got a slight stab in the leg.

A 10-inch catfish was inside the pants.

Purring Motor
Carrollton, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP)—An anguished yowl arose from beneath the hood of Vernon John's automobile when he stepped on the starter.

A cat had crawled into the car engine for a nap during the night and was being whirled around in the fan as the motor revolved.

Pussy, who was extricated by a mechanic, suffered only minor bruises.

Facts for Vets
(American Red Cross News Service)

Louis M., now 26, had been a farm hand for eight years up to the time he was drafted four years ago. Since his recent discharge he has been considering new employment, which will satisfy him more and suit his abilities better than farming, reports his neighbor to his local Red Cross chapter.

Louis needs job counseling by a trained person who can evaluate employment opportunities in the light of Louis' aptitudes, interests, and intelligence. The vocational rehabilitation department of the Veterans Administration helps the veterans determine the type of job for which they are best suited.

Under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G.I. Bill of Rights) veterans are entitled not only to counseling service but also to apprentice training and instruction to better equip them.

Louis may file an application at the Veterans Administration office. When he receives his letter of eligibility, he may apply for these services at the state regional office of the Veterans Administration or at any of their vocational guidance centers.

His Red Cross chapter can help him prepare the necessary forms.

THE CAMERA CORNER

Give a Thought
To Your Albums

The least you can do with a good picture once you've taken it is to treat it with respect. In millions of desk and bureau drawers there are curling snapshots stowed away, neglected and forgotten. Sometimes they're stuck messily in the corners of framed photos or mirrors. They deserve a better fate.

Of course, there are many uses for the best of your pictures. Enlarged and well mounted they may deserve a place on the wall. They can become greeting cards, birth announcements, invitations, calendars or place cards.

But, one and all, they have a place in your album. Not the stuffy, old-fashioned album—that big, black, heavy affair that tired the strongest lap and bored the most eager guest. Those haphazardly mounted prints with the unreadable, white ink captions are as out-of-date as a 1910 mail order catalog.

Albums Easy to Look At
The new album with plastic or spiral wire bindings is as easy to leaf through as a magazine. Instead of two or three catchalls containing the family saga since time began, you will have a lot of small ones with just a few pages each album devoted to a single specific subject: "Junior's Early Life and Hard Times," "Last Year's Vacation in Death Valley," "Father's Green Thumb, or How to Grow a Radish," "The Day Father Built Our Prefabricated House."

Everyone will make his own kind of album library, giving his own imagination and ingenuity. Some albums might be made up entirely of enlargements. Some will have enlargements in several sizes mixed with contact prints to form a pleasing layout on each double spread of album pages. Perhaps you will want to save the last few pages for comparison shots against the same background where you experimented with different techniques of pose, lighting and exposure.

Pictures Tell the Story
But remember to arrange the sequence of your photos logically. If there is a story to tell, let the pictures tell it. Study the layouts in good picture magazines for new ideas.

Now, a word about those negatives. Prints, you know, can be replaced. Negatives can't. What you want is a file in which your negatives are protected from dust and moisture and arranged by classification for easy reference. File the negatives individually in special waxed paper envelopes and on the envelopes write the data about that negative—the subject, the lighting, the exposure and the film used. Then arrange them in a file box under general heads such as Portraits, Sports or Gardens.

Answers to Questions
1. The enlargements I produce myself are satisfactory from every standpoint except that they have a muggy appearance. What causes this?

ANSWER: In general, this indicates that the enlargement was over-exposed in the enlarger and subsequently underdeveloped. Make a test strip from your negative to determine the correct exposure time. Develop your prints at least one or one and one-half minutes to secure full contrast range.

2. I often notice pictures taken by "moonlight" in the magazines. I don't believe this is actually so; how are these pictures taken?

ANSWER: Such pictures are often taken on overcast days when the sun shows through the clouds as a luminous disk. The sun is included in the picture, which is usually deliberately underexposed so that no shadow detail is registered, thus securing the effect of darkness.

3. Is it a good idea to rinse negatives and prints between developer and fixer?

ANSWER: Yes, it is a good idea to rinse negatives and prints between developer and fixer.

Picture of the Week
An example of good, natural composition, this picture starts at the left and flows to the right with the wind and clouds. The sharp detail and texture of the wood and rocks was brought out by the slightly oblique sunlight angle and by stopping the camera down to f 32. Exposure was 1/5 second. Clarity of the clouds and the distant mountainscape are the result of using a K2 filter. Film used was superpan portrait.

Electrical System On Constellation Will Be Revised

Slipper Quilts

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—International Airline operators looked forward eagerly today to return of the Lockheed Constellation to regular service after changes agreed upon by the manufacturers, users and the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The "Connie," with an official capacity of 51 passengers and a cruising speed of 271 miles an hour, was grounded by C.A.A. order on July 11 pending investigation of a training flight accident near Reading, Pa., in which five men were killed.

The C.A.A. summarized the changes in an announcement late yesterday after a long conference with airline and manufacturing representatives.

The alterations relate primarily to the electrical system, which caused the Reading fire. However, as a further safety measure the airlines will be required to change the engines over to the system which fuel is injected directly into the cylinders and mixed with air there instead of being mixed in a carburetor.

The fuel injection system, widely accepted in German aviation, is regarded as more economical and safer than the carburetor method. Engine fires have been a problem with the carburetor system.

Planes modified to meet other C.A.A. requirements may be put into service before the changeover to fuel injection, but all will be converted as soon as possible.

Lockheed Aircraft Corporation said that Constellations will be operating again on a world-wide basis within three weeks, but some airline executives do not expect to see them in service before Labor Day.

Will Reconsider Reds' Demand on Industries
Vienna, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Allied Control Council, after rejecting a Russian demand for annulment of a recently adopted Austrian law nationalizing 81 key industries including some claimed by Russia as reparations, decided last night to consider the matter again next Friday.

The Russians presented their demand at the first special meeting in the council's history, contending that the law, unanimously adopted by the Austrian parliament a week ago despite Soviet warnings, was illegal under the new control agreement. American and British representatives declined to act, pending further study.

Several Injuries Caused
Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 3 (AP)—An accident not involving A-bomb fissile material caused "several injuries" yesterday on the Los Alamos atomic bomb project. The accident, the Project Security Office announced, a spokesman, who described the incident as a "mis-lap," said that full details would be released within 24 hours, possibly today.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

ETIQUETTE FOR PEDESTRIANS

At the request of a bureau of public safety, the following rules for pedestrians are taken from a column I wrote many months ago. Unless you are very young and agile, wait to see the green light go on before making crossing. Unless you have been seen it is best to be about 20 feet off and trap you part way across the street. Also watch to make sure that cars are going to stop before crossing their paths. Always give everything on wheels the right of way. Take it for granted that drivers believe their rights are above those of pedestrians and act accordingly.

Both Parties—If General

Dear Mrs. Post: What happens when an invitation has been accepted and next day another one comes from someone else for the same time? In the first case we hardly know the people and there are still 10 days before their party. The second invitation is from very old friends who are counting on us at their party.

Answer: Rule No. 1 of courtesy is you cannot "throw over" an invitation that has been accepted for one received later. If it is a dinner you can't do anything about it, but if it is a general party you might go to both. Go to the formal one first and then later to the other one. In other words, going to two general parties in one evening is not unusual.

He Is "Jr." Not "4th"

Dear Mrs. Post: I have written my name John Blank, Jr., as my father and I are the only ones living who have this name. I thought this was right. Lately, however, I have discovered that my birth certificate reads John Blank, 4th, which means that since my dad was in the first World War as John Blank, Jr., there are two of us on the Army records. If there any explanation to all this?

Answer: The names you use correctly mean that your father and you alone represent a living father and son of identical name. The names of those who have died are counted only in cases of rulers.

UNITED WE STAND

"I don't believe this United Nations stuff is going to do any good," said the next-door neighbor as he sprinkled his lawn. He is not alone in that lack of enthusiasm. But apparently it has never occurred to him that if the United Nations is not successful, a portion of the blame lies with him.

The United Nations is the result of long and difficult effort on the part of the allied governments. It is not perfect, but it is the best organization for peace and international cooperation which could be devised in the time given.

The United Nations is a representative group. The man next door is represented, along with a bombed-out family in Holland, veterans in Russia, the English relatives, and all the other citizens of all the other countries which belong.

If these people really want peace and care enough to think about international problems, to read the peace conference news to the last word, and to back up their own representatives at conferences—the United Nations has a chance to accomplish its goal.

If the next-door neighbor, multiplied many times, is no more interested than to assume that no good can come of international talk, the delegates in the council chambers have a lonely struggle ahead of them. Taking the negative attitude, assuming hopelessness for the machinery which is the only constructive expression of hope, could kill the great chance for the world.

The United Nations needs the strength of the help and faith of all its peoples.

OVERCONFIDENCE

Republicans seem to think they have an excellent chance to capture the House of Representatives and the United States Senate in the forthcoming elections. So far as the House is concerned they do have an excellent chance since they need but 26 additional seats to gain control, providing they can hold what they now have. Republicans captured 80 seats in the 1938 off-year elections and more than half that number in 1942. Any such victory now would put them across easily. Polls and straw votes indicate that the Republicans have grown stronger since 1944, when the fact that we were still in the war furnished the necessary power to put President Roosevelt over for a fourth term.

But despite the fact that things seem to be going their way, the Republicans are confronted with at least one hidden danger. This danger is overconfidence. Many of their spokesmen are saying "I can't see how we can lose in November." But there is an easy way in which they may lose and that is to become so confident they fail to put forth their best efforts in educating the people during the campaign and neglect to get out the vote.

The Republicans can win, but if they want to assure victory they will forget about confident predictions and get down to work.

TEACHING THE DEAF

Less lip-reading and attempt at oral instruction for the deaf, more finger-spelling and sign and picture language were advocated at a convention of the Ontario Association for the Deaf in Toronto the other day.

"In any educational system for the deaf the oral process alone cannot achieve the objective of preparing a deaf child for the responsibilities it must assume after school," said Robert E. McBrien, university graduate, himself totally deaf. He believes that it is a mistake to take the whole time of the deaf child trying to learn how to be an imitation of his hearing comrades. On the other hand, methods natural to the deaf should be used as far as possible.

New theories of education, for normal as well as for variously handicapped children and adults, are springing up everywhere. Many will be tried out and a few good ones will survive because of proved usefulness. This idea that the deaf should give more of

'These Days'

THAT'S THE ANSWER

Those of us who come of immigrant parents understand the characteristics of pioneering even in big cities. For our parents were all pioneers and frightened ones. In any community, anywhere on Earth, and at any stage of civilization, strangers feel the pains of not being indigenous, of not belonging because they do not speak the language of the place, because their manners and habits are different, because they look different.

The approach to the problem varies. Dominant races, like the British, for instance, accentuate their differences, set themselves apart into communities of their own. The various international settlements, concessions, colonial ghettos are of this type. At Hongkong, for instance, the British lived on the Peak, at the top of a hill—at the bottom of it dwelled the Chinese whose land it really is. In such an atmosphere, the top group avoids, as long as possible, contact, except for business or political control, with the conquered or dominated groups. Some of them proudly never learn the native language, doing their business through interpreters, even if they live in that atmosphere for many decades.

In our own country, immigrants and their children approach the same problem from different standpoints. Some insist on retaining the old ways as long as possible. I think it was Bob Moses who gave them the name, "Beimonsiks," because they always say, "Bei Uns in the old country, it was so good—but here, God forgive us!" Many never learn to speak English; many live together in ghettos of their own making; many decline to understand America. Their children, however, usually are molded by our public school system and the baseball lot into characteristic Americans. The exceptions are those who, failing to become adequately assimilated, blame their inability to fit into their world upon the prejudices and meanness of those who decline to recognize the unquestioned right of anyone not to fit in. Such individuals become bitterly resentful and create havoc for themselves.

The American Negro, however, is different. He has been upon this continent for approximately three centuries and is as native as the rocks of New England. He cannot be a "Beimonsik" for he has no other country but this. He belongs. Yet, the overpowering human characteristic of community of kind, as the sociologists call it, sets up resistance to human beings who are different in color, in race, and in history. The fact that there are 14,000,000 Negroes in the United States and that they have civil rights, and that a large number of them decline to recognize the consequences of this sociological law, makes the Negro problem an extremely complicated and unhappy one for the United States.

Yet, there is, as there must be, an answer. For this is obvious, the American people will not renege the Negro, nor will they willingly accept the most widespread intermarriage between the two races. Therefore, the process of change from an attitude of resistance to one of cooperation and understanding can only come from education. In this respect, the Negro colleges and some white ones have done an amazing work.

Paul de Kruif has written for "The Reader's Digest" the story of Dr. Percy L. Julian, Director of Research of the Glidden Company, a scientist of the highest reputation and usefulness, a worthy successor to George Washington Carver, graduate of De Pauw University, of Harvard and the University of Vienna, teacher at Negro colleges, undoubtedly one of the top men in organic chemistry in the world.

That is the answer. True, not everybody can reach the top—not every Negro, nor for that matter, every white man. But respect comes with achievement. One Booker T. Washington, one George Washington Carver, one Percy L. Julian does more for his race than a thousand noisy agitators who go about demanding what has never been attained on demand, but which cannot be won in respect is once attained, the Negro colleges are doing a splendid work in this direction and should be generously supported. The Glidden Company is to be congratulated that they pursued the sound business principle of hiring, without prejudice, the best man they could find for the job. THAT BODY OF YOURS

REDUCING WEIGHT

I have written several times about the great help obtained by benzedrine sulfate in the treatment of alcoholism. The method of treatment is simple as the drug is taken by mouth one tablet after breakfast and one after lunch. It is not taken after the evening meal as it causes the individual to become active mentally and physically and thus may interfere with sleep. The usefulness of the drug in alcoholism is two-fold in that it takes away the desire for alcohol and gives the individual a needed boost when he is feeling low. It is especially helpful when he is recovering from a "hangover."

For the same reasons that it helps to cure alcoholism, benzedrine sulfate helps to reduce weight; that is it takes away the desire for food and causes the individual to feel willing to take exercise thus also helping to reduce weight.

In the treatment of overweight with benzedrine sulfate the tablet is given a few minutes before all three meals as cutting down on sleep in the majority of cases of overweight is good treatment. When the overweight is up and about he is using up three times as much energy as when he is resting. Thus, instead of resting, he is not only willing but actually feels like taking exercise or going for a walk, some of the excess fat on his body gets used to supply this energy. The small amount of food he eats due to the benzedrine sulfate cutting down on his appetite for food, prevents him from eating even the amount of food his body needs to do its daily work aside from the extra work the drug causes him to do.

Now this looks like an easy way to reduce weight and it is an easy way and usually is a safe way. However, some individuals are allergic or sensitive to benzedrine sulfate and therefore the physician always watches the effects of the first dose, and then prescribes the proper daily amount to take if the overweight is not allergic to benzedrine sulfate.

Overweight and Underweight

It has been well said that weight is one of the clearest methods of knowing one's health. their school time to methods by which they learn easily sounds reasonable. It does not throw away lip-reading and effort to speak—it merely lays more stress on other means.

What some of the rattling cars on the road are trying to say is, "How much longer do I have to hold out?"

Relations Between United States and Russia Are Considered No Better; Armies Cited as Example

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 2—Relations between the United States and Russia grow no better. In many respects the armed services of the two nations behave as if a state of war existed. The mysterious disappearance of two American Army officers who ventured into the Russian zone near Berlin, previously on a holiday of sightseeing, has not been explained. The officers were held for 27 days, and during that time the senior Russian commander told General McCarney, the U. S. commander in Berlin, that he did not know the whereabouts of the pair. Yet they were at Potsdam, near Berlin, all the time. The Russians said they thought the Americans were spies.

Not long ago a Russian naval officer was accused of spying but was acquitted after a jury trial in Seattle, Wash.

Before these two episodes, the Canadian government discovered a spy ring of Russians interested in trying to find out secrets related to atomic energy.

In China it is suspected that the Communists are being aided by the Russians and that the attack on the American Marines may have been indirectly connected with Russian encouragement of the Chinese Communists.

It would be to Russia's interest to get American Marines out of China so that the Russians could aid in the overthrow of Chiang Kai-Shek.

All this is not a healthy state between nations which claim to be at peace and which have sent representatives to Paris to write the first set of peace treaties. Nor is it encouraging to read the speech of Ambassador Gromyko, who tells the United Nations that under no circumstances will Russia agree to any international inspection if she is given the secrets of the atom bomb.

Clinging to the principle of sovereignty, the Russian viewpoint is that Russia can be depended upon to do her own inspecting and policing to prevent violations of the agreement with respect to the use of atomic energy.

The Russians must be naive to believe that the American government will yield the knowledge it has about the atom bomb and turn it over to a totalitarian government whose record of suppression of freedom inside Russia indicates an unscrupulous and ruthless use of power. The present state of suspicion in Washington is that few people trust Russia to refrain from using the atom bomb if she ever gets possession of its secret or finds out from her own scientific investigations how to use it.

On the contrary, the feeling here is that America's whole defense plan for the future must be based on the assumption that a sudden attack could be launched by a totalitarian government. While Russia is not mentioned, the suspicions are usually pointed in that direction.

Russia may be wholly innocent of the impression her acts are producing. Mr. Gromyko cannot possibly realize unless he is acting under rigid instructions from Moscow to say certain things, irrespective of their effect—how discouraging is his statement about international inspection.

Russia is to maintain her right of veto in the Security Council, she can keep herself aloof from any inspection.

Maybe Russia feels she will soon have the atomic secret anyhow and can do as she pleases. But American sentiment, as reflected in Congress, is opposed to giving away anything or to stopping the manufacture of atom bombs until Russia manifests her willingness to accept inspection.

It may be that Russia is relying on "left wingers" inside the United States, including various scientists, to agitate for the handing over of atomic secrets to Russia. The crusade for giving the secret to Russia without any assurance that Russia will agree to refrain from using the material aggressively against peaceful nations is one of the unexplained mysteries of our times.

One thing is sure, Mr. Gromyko's speech has ended for a long time to come any possibility that the United States will share the atomic secret with Russia or any other power unwilling to accept international control and inspection. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

Port Ewen, New York: things they need. They must save. They must be thrifty. Parking meters would help congestion, as people who keep dropping in money would keep dropping in more nickles and still exist. A more condition would still exist. A more sensible idea, would be to have parking in congested areas for one hour only, and if cars were there longer, enforce the law. Kingston has a splendid police force. We don't give them a chance. Is this the American Way of Life we heard so much about during the war? A tax to keep cars in the garage, then, a tax to park it at the curb, now. What do the business men of Kingston think about it? Now is your time to speak. These meters will be a sign to motorists, saying, stay away from Kingston. Pretty words, but don't mean much. Good news! Important. Give John Q. Motors a break.

Dewey Will Not Reopen Case of Freeport Officer

ing to present "properly and fairly" the "material issues to the grand jury." The petition accused Gehrig of "personal bias and anger" because, it said, he "took offense" at interest "displayed by the citizenry."

They contended that according to some testimony Romeika was not justified in shooting, especially in "shooting to kill."

Gehrig, in his answer to the petition, said he was satisfied that justice had been served, but he suggested that Dewey institute a public investigation because of what the prosecutor termed "unfortunate racial implications" injected into the case.

Conducted Three Hearings
Greenbaum, who conducted three public hearings in New York, declared in his conclusions to the governor:

"The grand jury had before it all of the material facts concerning the shooting that we have been able to find. The district attorney gave a fair, full and complete presentation thereof to the grand jury. There is no evidence of any bias or prejudice in this case insofar as the office of the district attorney is concerned."

Greenbaum noted that Stanley Faulkner, the Ferguson's attorney, appeared before the grand jury "and he gave a statement apparently as a witness but which was actually a summation of the case looking toward the indictment of Romeika."

"It is needless for me to call to your attention," Greenbaum reported to the governor, "that this procedure gave the attorney for the petitioners an extraordinary opportunity of influencing the grand jury. The grand jury did not indict."

Faulkner also is attorney for the "Citizens Committee for Justice in the Ferguson case."

Not D.A.'s Responsibility
Greenbaum's report continued: "The action of the grand jury in failing to indict, in my opinion, cannot be attributed to the district attorney in any way... and on the undisputed evidence the grand jury must have come to the conclusion that the officer had shot as he did in the performance of his duty. * * * They undoubtedly concluded that there was no reasonable chance of a conviction by a trial jury, and * * * it is difficult for me to see how there could be any reasonable chance of a conviction of this officer upon such a trial."

"There is little evidence to establish that the officer, who thought his life was in danger, would have acted in any different manner if the four men before him had been white and not colored."

Greenbaum said the "only error claimed and worthy of comment in the district attorney's presentation before the grand jury was a question directed to Faulkner and one of the witnesses produced by him."

Fowl Population Declines One Half

Flocks Are 25 Per Cent Less Than 10-Year Poultry Average

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—New York state's chicken population declined about 27 per cent this year and now is approximately 25 per cent less than the 10-year average, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

The department, in a federal-state report, said about 16,986,000 chickens would be raised on New York farms this season, compared with approximately 23,000,000 last year, 27,000,000 in 1943 and the decade average of about 21,000,000.

Nationally, the 677,000,000 chickens raised on farms this year, the smallest total since 1940, is 18 per cent less than last year and about five per cent under the 10-year average.

Robert Hull, 42, Held for Shooting
Miami, Fla., Aug. 3 (AP)—An information charging Robert Hull, 42, with assault with intent to commit second-degree murder was filed yesterday in connection with the shooting of his wife, Saralyn, 32, in a Miami rest home.

Mrs. Hull, shot in the leg with a 12 gauge shotgun when she visited her estranged husband at the rest home Wednesday night, was released.

Kingston After Second Win Over Visiting Nine

Locals at Full Strength Hope to Pin Back Ears of Invaders They Beat Once by 3-2

With the weather man promising to smile on them for a change, the local nine took advantage of the powerful Armas tonight at municipal stadium at 9 o'clock.

Manager Joe Hoffman has nominated Dick Fitzgerald, recent 5-0 conqueror of the New York Firemen, for Recreation pitching chores, while Arma is expected to counter with colorful Eddie Barrata, strong arm right hander.

Kingston will be at full strength for this return engagement, with Billy Ostrom taking over in right field.

Joe Wahl, sturdy first sacker, continues to set the pace among the hitters with a neat .385. Wahl has banged out 25 hits in 65 trips to the plate. Runnerup is third baseman George Pederson moving along at .333 with 21 blows in 61 attempts.

Outstanding development in the Firemen game was the elevation of Steve Ristau into the select circle with a .305 mark. Ristau, a perennial 300 hitter, made the grade after a long, uphill struggle. He lashed out three singles last Saturday night to pass Bill Shelley. The latter holds the spot with .295. Ostrom maintained his .250 gait last week but as usual his lone hit was good for extra bases.

Arma showed one of the best defenses of the season in the first game which they dropped 3-2 after taking a 2-0 edge in the first stanza. Second baseman Capri is a sharpie around the sack and looks like major league timber. The Recs pounded Barrata for 13 safeties but Capri killed off several scoring rallies with dazzling stops.

The Arma batting power centers around Ed Rosenbaum, left fielder, and Sullivan, right fielder. These three men represent most of Dick Fitzgerald's worries for tonight.

Fitzgerald emerged from the Firemen triumph with added prestige. The lanky right hander shook off the mauling of the Boston Braves and has come back with two well pitched games.

The Recs are likely to string along with the same batting order that humbled the Firemen. Manager Joe Hoffman made only a few changes but the lineup clicked from the outset. Ristau, dropped out of the No. 3 slot, promptly made a personal campaign to regain the slot by poking out three hits in a row.

Undecided on Wednesday The Recreation directors have not announced any plans beyond tonight's fray. No game has been booked for next Wednesday night, with the likelihood that no decision will be made until tonight.

The batting averages follow: AB R H Pct. Pederson .63 8 25 .385 Ristau .63 13 33 .333 Shelley .61 10 19 .305 Ostrom .59 20 35 .295 Banbara .65 11 16 .295 Motzer .51 34 8 .235 Ashdown .29 3 6 .207 Gentile .61 10 10 .156 Fitzgerald .21 2 3 .143

The tentative lineups for tonight: Recreation: Banbara, 2b; Gentile, cf; Pederson, 3b; Ostrom, 1b; Wahl, 1b; Shelley, ss; Motzer, c; Fitzgerald, p. Arma: Ruiz, cf; Goodlass, ss; Rosenbaum, 1b; Sullivan, cf; Capri, 2b; Linsalata, c; Parenti, 3b; Barrata, p.

Prewar Standards To Rule Ivy League

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Eight historic "Ivy" colleges of the east have abandoned individual eligibility rules in varsity athletics and will begin this fall to operate under a code based on prewar standards.

The code, announced yesterday by Prof. E. G. Marchant of Cornell, chairman of the group's eligibility committee, is liberal for war veterans but tight on new civilian students.

Committed to the code, through an agreement signed by their presidents, are Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, Brown, Columbia, Princeton and Pennsylvania.

"The individual college or university," Marchant said, "will no longer determine the eligibility of its athletes which now rests with an inter-college committee."

Four-year eligibility is granted veterans entering this fall as freshmen, with any varsity competition during the war as civilians or as naval or marine trainees charges against that maximum.

Civilians who began their college careers during the war when four years of competition was permitted, are allowed to complete their four years.

All other students are restricted to three full academic years of varsity competition.

SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Allie Reynolds, forced back into the shadows by the brilliancy of his illustrious pitching teammate, Bob Feller, in the last month has turned in consistently fine mound performances that would do justice to his own name.

In fact, the Cleveland Indian's righthander has forced the great Feller to play second fiddle during the past 30 days as the 27-year-old Oklahoman racked up six straight triumphs while Feller dropped one game in seven starts.

Reynolds gained his sixth victory in a row yesterday and the eighth of the campaign at the expense of the New York Yankees whom he defeated 3-0 for his second shutout win. The triumph enabled Cleveland to remain within landing distance of the fourth place Washington Senators who blanked the Chicago White Sox, 6-0.

A crowd of 35,863 watched Reynolds limit the Yanks to two hits and dump them into third place behind the Detroit Tigers who upset the Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers handed the American League leading Red Sox their third straight defeat when Dizzy Trout outpitched Tex Hughson, 7-1.

The win gave the second place Bengals a two-point advantage over the Yankees.

Old Bobo Newsom won his eighth of the season as he blanked the Chicago White Sox with seven scattered hits to give the Senators their 6-0 victory.

Safe from the clutches of the challenging St. Louis Cardinals, who were guests of the Phillies in Philadelphia, the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers returned to their winning ways by edging out the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 under the Ebbets' Field lights.

The victory coupled with the Cards' defeat by Ben Chapman's Phils, increased the Flocks' lead over the Redbirds to two and a half games.

The Cards failed to hold onto a 2-0 advantage as the Phils jumped on lefty Al Brazle for six hits—five of them in the infield variety—to score three runs in the seventh inning and defeat St. Louis 3-2.

Pittsburgh and the New York Giants divided a doubleheader at the Polo Grounds, the Giants coming back to win 3-2 after the Buccs, behind the southpaw slants of Fritz Ostermuller, had copped the opener 6-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics overcame an early two-run deficit to down the St. Louis Browns 8-3.

Postponed the scheduled Chicago Cub-Boston Braves night contest.

Racing Commissions Asked to Alter Plans Boston, Aug. 3 (AP)—Racing commissions through the country were called on today by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association to revise rules so that "constitutional guarantees of each state to a licensee shall be at all times preserved."

In other resolutions adopted at their annual meeting the association strongly "condemned" what it described as "discriminate taxation" of horse racing tracks, and licensed off course betting which they say has been proposed in New York state and in Florida.

A spokesman explained that the resolution against taxes was precipitated by New York city's levy of a five per cent tax, on top of the state tax, and by similar action taken by county commissioners in Sarasota, Fla. The spokesman added that "betting at tracks in these places has decreased 30 per cent."

In its resolution against legalized off-course betting the association expressed anxiety that such wagering would "take the sport away from horse racing and convert it into a gambling classification."

Colorful Battle Looms for Patrons Of Marine Game

West Pointers Strong After Winning Post League; City Lineup Packs Plenty of Wallop

When the Kingston All Stars trot out onto the field at municipal stadium Sunday night to play for the benefit of the Ulster County Detachment of the Marine Corps League, they'll be facing a collection of champions.

Sgt. Frank Ceci's Artillery team won the pennant in the West Point Service League, Thursday, defeating the Military Police, 6-3.

"That victory fortified us for Sunday's game," said Ceci as he bubbled over with joy. He's confident his Artillerymen, strengthened by the addition of some extras with brilliant baseball ability, will give the local ex-servicemen the fight of their lives on the uptown diamond.

Pre-Game Ceremony Preceding the game, the Marines will go in for a deal of ceremony. A color guard, directed by Albert J. Melville, Nicaraguan veteran, will raise the flag on the big white pole overlooking the ballfield, and a squad of World War 2 Leathernecks will fire a salute. This will take place at 8:45.

At 9 o'clock sharp, the game will start and from the opening pitch to the last out there should be plenty of colorful action on the diamond. Indications are that there will be an overflow crowd of fans on hand for the skirmish. Many tickets have been sold, and comment among the baseball faithful presages a full house.

Kingston Lineup Manager Paul Misove of the Kingston All Stars has a brilliant collection of players ready for action, men who represent practically every theatre of operations in World War 2.

Here's how the local team shapes up: Pitchers—Charlie Neff, Dick Kaufman, of Saugerties and Tommy Fisher.

Catcher—George Zadany. 1b—Jack "Daisy" Schatzel. 2b—Dick Reynolds of Saugerties.

ss—Bill Tierney or Chappie Van Van Derzee. 3b—Andy Celuch. Outfielders—Tommy Maines, Mac Tiano, Jimmy Ashdown. Utility—Joe Carline of Glasco; Bob Carnright of Saugerties.

West Point Lineup Pitchers—Ronald Young (start), 16 strikeouts defeating the M.P.'s for the Post League pennant; Joe Palone, assistant coach of cadet baseball team.

Catchers—Earl Motsinger, property of the St. Louis Browns. 1b—Bruce Bailey. 2b—John Wallick. ss—Frank Chambers. 3b—Jack Crowe (Coast Artillery).

Outfielders—Jim Householder, Walt Sweeney and Jerry Belinger (formerly of Eureka Lions, Newburgh). Utility—Jack Roesti.

The average age of youngsters on this club is 19, and Manager Ceci figures the batting average of his contingent is 300.

Ceci, who has managed the Artillery for four years, rates this year's team as one of the best he has ever piloted.

"Nobody plays on my club unless he's a hustler," Ceci told a reporter. He's tough on his men and the umpires.

William "Pie" Murphy is scheduled to call 'em behind the plate. Supreme Court Judge Harry E. Schirick and former City Judge Bernard A. Culliton, long identified with baseball here, will not be in town and have notified Commandant J. R. Mayone to procure men to umpire in their places on the bases.

Commandant Mayone told a reporter that he was exceedingly grateful to all who assisted in promoting the game, proceeds of which will go to the treasury of the Ulster Detachment of the Marine Corps League.

Patrons who purchased special tickets for the game will occupy the center section of the grand stand, which will be manned by members of the Marine League who will escort them to their seats.

There will be a recruiting sergeant on duty at the stadium to talk to young men desiring information about enlisting in the marines.

Austin Meets Opposition Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Jane Austin, middle states intercollegiate tennis titlist from the University of Pennsylvania, was expected to meet tough opposition today from Wilma Smith, of St. Louis, in the finals of Eastern States' Women's Clay Court Championships at the Idle Hour Club.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

By Jimmy Hatlo

Following the service in a local church, one of the members of the congregation was berating another for insulting the preacher: "Other Member—But, I didn't insult him. All I did was to ask him to pray for my floating kidney. What's the matter with that? Didn't he pray for the loose livers last Sunday?"

Chatty—Oh, he's so romantic. When he addresses me, he always says: "Fair lady."

Catty—Force of habit, my dear! He's a street car conductor.

Woman—Does your husband always lie to you when he comes home?

Neighbor—No, some nights I'm too tired and sleepy to ask questions.

Easy!

It's as easy to lift as to lean. Do a kind act as to be mean. It's as easy to praise as to scorn. To wait and be glad as to mourn. It's just in this world as you take it.

It's as easy to look up as down; It's as easy to smile as to frown; It's as easy to laugh as to cry; Quite as easy to sing as to sigh; It's just in this world as you make it.

—G. S. Layton

Junior had just graduated from a college of journalism. Naturally, there was nothing he didn't know about the subject of conducting a newspaper, and he promptly wrote a long letter of criticism to the editor of this paper, telling him exactly how his paper could be improved. Then he called on the editor:

Graduate (pompously)—I sent you some original suggestions for making your paper more readable. Have you had these suggestions carried out?

Editor—Yes. On your way in, didn't you see the janitor with a large waste basket? It contained your suggestions—they were all carried out.

William, the little boy next door was playing with baby sister Sue:

Sue—Don't you hear your mother calling you? Aren't you going in? Won't she whip you?

William (in disgust)—No. She ain't going to whip anybody. She's got company, so when I go in she'll just say: "The poor little man has been so deaf since he's had the measles."

A G.I. who recently returned to civilian life, was asked what his plans were—and observing traffic on the highways said he was undecided whether to open a filling station or a funeral parlor.

Cyprus Temple Engages Special Train to Run to Atlantic City on Friday

More than 25 Shriners from Kingston have signified intentions of attending the three-day Shrine outing at Atlantic City, September 13, 14 and 15, featured by a colorful parade by uniformed bands and patrols from the various temples in New York state. Many more Shriners and their wives are expected to make reservations for the event. This may be done by contacting Gordon A. Craig, president of the Kingston Shriners Association. Cyprus Temple of Albany will run a special train direct from Albany to Atlantic City, making stops at Catskill, Kingston and Highland on Friday morning. President Craig emphasized that any Shriner may take advantage of the trip, whether he is a member of Cyprus Temple or not.

Wayne, N. J., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Ramapo-Pompton Protective Association today announced it has asked the two gubernatorial candidates—Alfred E. Driscoll, Republican, and Lewis G. The association, fighting the application now under consideration by the State Water Policy Council, claimed the proposed $2,000,000 project is impractical. Another hearing on the diversion application will be held in Trenton on Thursday.

claimed heart trouble and has remained in Havana while the committee searched out details of the combine's operations. Mortar shells to be probed in its formal announcement, the committee reported that a case which will be heard publicly would be that stemming from its inquiry into defective mortar shells which killed Americans on the "steep" and western front. The committee's inquiry was directed toward the mortar shells in the course of its inquiry into the combine. Erie Basin Metal Products Company, one of 19 closely linked affiliates in the combine, was one of the chief producers of that type shell. There has been no evidence to show that Erie was responsible.

Second on the committee's newly-established "priority list" for investigation came an inquiry which may send a subcommittee to Los Angeles and Hawaii and over the Pan American highway. The announcement said that a subcommittee would inquire into construction of the highway, as well as continue a scrutiny of the defense of Pearl Harbor. Meanwhile, the committee served notice that, before conclusion of its inquiries and before presentation of recommendations to congress, it would "deal publicly" with the case of "our procurement in all the principal industries." Chairman Mead (D-NY) was already on record as saying they will include the aviation, automotive, aluminum and ship-building industries.

Placing Disabled Veterans on Jobs

Commander Reid Says Union Officials Are Cooperating

Commander Joseph S. Reid of the Ulster County Disabled American Veterans Chapter states that Joseph Fay, vice-president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, and Thomas Fanning of Local 825, of the same organization, which has jurisdiction in this vicinity, have agreed to place in their line of work as many disabled veterans as can meet the minimum requirements. Commander Reid says that while his committee on employment for handicapped members had worked for eight months, contacting firms, politicians and organizations, they had met nothing but excuses and refusals until Mr. Fay volunteered his services to place as many as possible, throughout his jurisdiction on the eastern coast. He finds it regrettable that there are not more men who will willingly overlook the disabilities incurred by battle casualties, who are aware of the sacrifices made by these men in defense of the nation and who will help them to place as many as possible, throughout his jurisdiction on the eastern coast.

The hope is expressed by Mr. Reid that more union leaders and industrialists will take the same stand and help to alleviate the problems which confront the disabled veterans and their families.

decision against restoration at this time of a flour subsidy which lapsed July 1, and from "the fact that the price of wheat has gone above June ceilings." There are no price controls at present on wheat or other basic grains.

In its official announcement O.P.A. termed the bread and flour increases "temporary." The agency said they will remain in effect "only until the Price Decontrol Board has determined whether maximum prices should be re-imposed (after August 20) on the basic grains."

O.P.A. officials later acknowledged, however, that the increases will have to be continued if the board should rule against re-establishment of grain ceilings.

O.P.A. said it would be "administratively impracticable" to restore the flour subsidy until the board has made its decision. Loss of the subsidy, the agency continued, has "made it difficult for flour millers to maintain the supply of flour to bakeries and households throughout the country at (previous) ceiling prices."

While O.P.A. was pushing up ceilings, the Price Decontrol Board invited consumer groups and industry representatives to air their views on whether ceilings should be restored after August 20 on meats, dairy products, grains, cottonseed and soybeans.

The board announced that public hearings on this issue will open on Wednesday, August 12, with the first day given over to discussion of grain. Meat will be taken up August 13, cottonseed and soybeans August 14, and milk and other dairy products August 15. If the board does not rule for or against restoration of ceilings on these items by August 20, ceilings automatically will be re-established the next day.

Two Suspects Captured

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two 17-year old burglary suspects were captured by police early today after a block-wide, roof-to-roof hunt in Greenwich Village. Police, using powerful searchlights to illuminate the area, found the youths after an hour-long search covering under the rafters of a four-story building at 48 Ninth street—several houses from the one they allegedly burglarized. Police Captain Thomas Lenihan, spotting the youths entering 38 Ninth street, called for reserves and a cordon of police were thrown around the block bounded by Broadway, University Place, and Eighth and Ninth streets. The youths were booked on charges of burglary and possession of burglary tools.

'Purely Protective'

Nuernberg, Germany, Aug. 3 (AP)—The notorious SS, which has been charged collectively with history's most heinous crimes, was described today as a purely "protective" organization which often was used for traffic control. Friedrich von Eberstein, who was a group leader in the SS starting in 1933, said "on party days the SS not only had a parade but also was charged with direction of traffic. At the end of the day they were often very, very tired."

Will Oppose Showdown

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Several delegations to the United Nations Security Council indicated today they would oppose a showdown on Albania's application for U.N. membership until after the membership committee had discussed all applications before it. These delegations included the United States and Great Britain, who took the position that the committee should discuss the work of two phases—discussion and voting.

O'Dwyer Asks Port To Give Assistance

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer turned to the Port of New York Authority today in his search for a satisfactory financing and operating agency for the two city airports.

In a letter to Howard S. Cullman, chairman of the bi-state body, O'Dwyer invited the Port Authority to study the desirability of taking over the financing and operating of La Guardia Field and the still unfinished Idlewild Airport.

He declared that such a move, if feasible, "would relieve the city of a tremendous burden of future airport financing and at the same time it would make the terminals available without cost to the city's taxpayers."

The mayor's request became known yesterday after the text of his letter to Cullman was released following a conference at city hall with Austin J. Tobin, general manager of the authority.

The mayor and the board of estimate in the past few weeks have been engaged in lengthy conferences, under pressure of airlines for increased facilities, to decide whether the airports should be financed and operated by the city or the port authority.

A decision by the authority to take over the airports would result in the unification of control of the three major airports in the metropolitan area.

The authority placed before the city of Newark, N. J., Wednesday a plan under which it would purchase, rebuild and operate the Newark airport. The authority has requested an answer by September 1.

The authority will meet next Thursday to consider the mayor's proposal. It was estimated a full study of the proposal would require about 60 days.

Chairmanship Is To Be Rotated

my opinion the matter is not of as great importance as it seems to be to others. When I vote it will be to sustain the recommendations of the council.

"My friend Mr. Molotov feels strongly about this. I do not feel so strongly. I only hope that the conference will be allowed to go ahead and vote its convictions, one way or the other. I am more interested in your recommendations than I am in who will preside."

"I want to make clear now the position of the United States. Where the suggestions sent out by the council do not cause me to feel that they would be harmful, I want to go along with those proposals."

No individual can receive a unanimous vote. That is unfortunate."

However, Byrnes voiced another stand at the foreign ministers' meetings, that the United States reserved the right to change its stand on any decisions made there.

He cited that on one subject he stated this stand seven times. "This division," he cautioned the conference, "might affect not only the decisions here but also the council of foreign ministers. Therefore I will vote to sustain the decision of the council."

Jews Say Arabs Proposed Plan

Paris, Aug. 3 (AP)—Jewish sources said today that the present British-American cabinet plan for partitioning Palestine was suggested by Arab leaders during recent extraordinary negotiations between Britain and the Arab League.

These sources said their information came from the Middle East in a confidential report dated July 28, 1946, and expressed the belief that it represented an authentic account of diplomatic maneuvering in which Arab leaders pledged eventual acceptance of the plan to admit 100,000 Jews to Palestine over the next five years.

According to the Jewish report these negotiations began several months ago, when the British government requested the Arab states not to press for an immediate decision on Palestine, but to give Britain time to work out a final solution.

At the same time, this report said, Britain committed itself not to carry out any of the recommendations of the British-American inquiry committee before consulting the Arab League again.

Desmond Will Ask Bill to Improve Pregnancy Health

Would Promote Broader Education Program for Medical and Nurse Students

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Legislation designed to improve the health of expectant mothers and infants through a broader program of nutritional education and services will be recommended to the 1947 legislature, State Senator Thomas C. Desmond said today.

Desmond, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Nutrition, declared in a statement that "the amount of nutrition education both theoretical and practical should be increased for medical and nursing students."

The proposed program, he added, also would require "additional nutrition training for school teachers and health educators."

Desmond, a Newburgh Republican, said the program was based largely on recommendations to the committee by Dr. H. C. Stuart and Mrs. B. S. Burke of Harvard University's School of Public Health. He said their research had uncovered "a direct relationship between the diets of expectant mothers and complications during pregnancy, and the health of infants."

The joint committee's recommendations will propose: Health education for high school girls and young women in college and industry, covering special nutritional requirements imposed by pregnancy and group instructions for young women newly married or contemplating marriage.

Institution of special nutritional services in prenatal clinics or other organized maternal care services by "suitably trained nutritionists."

Increased nutritional study in the training of obstetricians and general practitioners, and the training of nutritional consultants.

Continuation of special instruction in dietary needs during the entire period of pediatric care.

Availability of nutritional advice "during the inter-pregnancy period in all cases where corrective nutrition is needed."

Legion in Favor Of Bonus for Vets

Asks Federal Government to Pay Men Who Served

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York State Department of the American Legion was on record today as favoring a federal bonus to veterans amounting to $60 for each month overseas and $30 for each month domestic service.

A resolution favoring the bonus was adopted late yesterday at the department's 28th annual convention, at which Earl C. Hitchcock, city editor of the Glens Falls Times was unanimously elected commander to succeed Miles D. Kennedy of the Bronx.

Hitchcock said in accepting the post: "We should put the men of World War 2 to work so they will know what this American Legion really is and then will be able to take over themselves." He said 68 per cent of Legion members were veterans of the second world war.

Vice commanders elected were Dr. William J. Burns of Albany, John Kingsburgh of Lowville, Ben Kysor of Gowanda and George Stott of Larchmont. William J. Dwyer of Cortland was re-elected treasurer, the Rev. Arthur J. F. Quinn of the Bronx was named chaplain and Frank Monnin of Penn Yan was elected historian.

Trumans Make Plane Flight to Missouri

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Truman flew today to Missouri where he can get a firsthand view of the Kansas City Democratic congressional primary in which he is the major campaign issue.

His plane took off from the capital's national airport at 8:05 a. m. Eastern Standard Time. His endorsement of Eros Axtell, opponent of Rep. Roger C. Slaghter in the fifth district, lifted an already heated campaign fight into national prominence.

Both Slaughter and Jerome Walsh, the third man in the race, have reacted bitterly to the President's intervention, disclosed to a recent news conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman will vote Tuesday at the Memorial Building in Independence. Their home is in the fourth district of Jackson county; consequently, the President will have no opportunity to vote against the man he says has opposed virtually all administration measures as a member of the House Rules Committee.

Police said Caraway resembled the description they had and when he failed to establish an alibi for July 24 they took him to Mineola. Miss Logan said previously that on the morning of July 24 a Negro entered the house and demanded money from her mother. She said she tossed $10 down the stairs. Then, Miss Logan added, the man ran up the stairs, seized a roll of bills from her hand and at gunpoint forced her into a bedroom where he raped her and then shot her twice.
